MIX GASOLINE AND KEROSENE.

Recent experiments have proved that it is possible to mix kerosene and gasoline in equal quantities—making a cheap fuel oil. This gives a fuel of from 33 to 55 gravity, which is just as light as the major part of the gasoline sold for tractor purposes on the other side of the line.
Such a mixture will not only give all the power necessary, but will materially reduce the cost of the engine owners' fuel.
Try this out for yourself.

The Women's Institute will meet in the I.O.O.F. Hall on Saturday, April 1st, at 3 p.m., when it is hoped there will be a large attendance sented to address the meeting on the needs of the Society. At 4 p.m., tea will be served, and a musical programme will be rendered. The proceeds of the tea will go to the funds of the Red Cross.

Special requests I have come in from Red Cross headquarters, that our knitters exercise more care and follow more closely the Red Cross directions in the making of these socks. The doctors in England write that many of the socks have to be tossed aside, as the socks cannot possibly wear them without injuring their feet. A bare or rough spot in a sock will give a sore spot that will easily cause blood poison. Observe the following: Use only Red Cross yarn. Do not use fine needles. Do not tie a knot in the yarn, but lap the ends well in joining. Do not make a double heel. Rib only 4 inches of the leg, knitting the remaining 8 inches plain. Make the Red Cross toe, as per directions in the Red Cross books. The size of the Red Cross Sock is—leg 12 inches, length of foot 11½ inches, length of top of foot to bottom of heel 14½ inches.

Put 24 stitches on each needle.

To finish the toe: Divide the stitches between the three needles, evenly.

1st row: Knit together 1st and 2nd stitches on each needle.

2nd row: Knit together 2nd and 3rd stitches on each needle.

3rd row: Knit together 3rd and 4th stitches on each needle.

And so on, beginning again with 1st and 2nd stitches after reaching the last stitches on each needle. Decrease to 9 stitches. Draw wool through stitches and darn in carefully.

Public Notice.

Owing to the increase in price it has been found necessary to charge 50 cents per ounce for same. Land owners are directed to buy one ounce for each Quarter section assessed to them.

The quantity procured is not sufficient to go round, so that it would be wise to secure your share at an early date.

Canada's Wealth And The War

How the Country is Standing the Strain, and an idea of the Future

(By W. S. Dimick, in Monetary Times)

Writing in the Monetary Times, I said a year ago that a big crop in 1915 meant that a good crop for Canada. That was my opinion, notwithstanding the fact that we were then in the middle of a giddy amalgamation. The outlook was clouded, and but little light ahead. Look, however, at the state of affairs today and a world of difference is apparent. We have been blessed with the bountiful crop we hoped for, we are getting along well, and are in a position to dare to assail the general opinion that the splendid measure of prosperity it will bring throughout the country is the largest return the country can give to the work of the farming community. In itself, the big crop spelled good times. On the other hand, the munition business, the extent of which no one was oracle enough to foretell a year ago.

We must appreciate the fact that intense agricultural production is essential to our carrying on the war in a big Canadian war. Further, we realize that the contributions of the surplus have grown to be a tremendous factor in our national life. The production of the surplus, notwithstanding a ready seriously clashes with recruiting the big armies that Canada feels it her duty to send abroad. The situation of the surplus is indeed the widespread unemployment of labor, and there is now a scarcity of labor in many parts of the country. The situation grows more acute every day. Obviously, for national reasons, we cannot look to the United States for aid, and even if we would, the United States cannot itself find labor enough to meet the needs of Canada, where we think of the individual farmer highly prosperous and most intent.

The war of the day may change the present conditions of our prosperity, but it will not decrease its volume. To my mind, two causes of the prosperity of the world that will most surely continue the declaration of peace, and from the feeling of security, enthusiasm and enthusiasm, will be held in check, whereas the pictures of Germany are hissed in spite of protests by the management, anxious to respect neutrality.

When the war is over, Germany, which is only a democracy, Germany, which was recently annexed to the Dutch and was established, an edition of 20,000 copies was exhibited, in a few weeks. Subscriptions for the war were enormous. The French were readily forthcoming, but no one thought of a similar gift to the Allies. The German people, however, blew up the ammunition train, and they came back—all six of them.

Will Need Enormous Sum for Persons

The Prince of Wales, addressing a meeting of the Royal Patriotic Fund, of which he is president, said that the purpose of parliament or a higher scale would be to give a larger scale of allowances or a higher scale of allowances than those of other European countries. He pointed out that the total casualties of the Boer war were 44,000, and that the British losses had to meet in years past trained in the ways of the world's markets by was business and industry, and the government and private organizations adequately caring for those who had sacrificed everything to obey the call.

A Confession From Berlin

We must look the fact in the face that we are dealing with a nation of men who are not only a nation, but have never known what it is to yield. It is not to hope that England, even though she may have been at fault in her calculations in this war, will show any weakness. The nation, even in spite of its leaders, if need be, will stand up to the last man.

It is to be considered that all of the big men of Germany, who might say the brains of the country and our industries, particularly those produced in the country, have been developed for just such a situation as will exist in this war. The war, for the Germans, is a question of fighting for life—Berlin Tagblatt.

Twenty More Canadian Regiments

Major-General Sir Sam Hughes has announced that twenty more regiments will be recruited from Great Britain for twenty additional Canadian regiments to be sent to the front. In England, which will go to the front, the predominant possibilities of their forces were acceptable. After the Boer war, the war who longer engage in feints are aware that a question of fighting for life—Berlin Tagblatt.

What Splendid Soldiers

Who one reads that British Columbia is the only part of the world that appears bright. With industries busy, with farms in full swing, and with record proportions, there is little reason to fear for our economic standing. Let us consider automobile business as an illustration. It is an accurate barometer of national wealth. A year ago, the most firms in Canada were certain to be idle during 1915, but they will be developing, and building up in every corner of the world, to conform to Canadian necessities. It is a plenty of assurance that we need have no fear about the economic conditions when peace shall reign.

The future of Canada, if one can but cast his mind on the plan of suffering and gain of the half dependent on the condition of half of the world, appears bright. With industries busy, with farms in full swing, and with record proportions, there is little reason to fear for our economic standing.

In Canada, the motor manufacturers in the United States. They soon found that they had not care to supply the world, and they broke all records to build up their export market. Today these agencies and the Canadian motor manufacturers cannot keep up with the demands, and though the former have to labor under
